Cale Yarborough

Driver Count's Time In Seconds

One second is not very long in most people's work day. However, a single second may determine the winner of the inaugural Texas 500 race at the new Texas International Speedway on December 7.

Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., is well aware of the importance of a second from his days as an all-state fullback in high school, though the time he enjoyed sky-diving as a hobby and even more now as one of the top drivers in the elite Grand National Division of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR).

Yarborough measures his work, driving a 1969 Mercury - in tenths, hundredths or thousandths of a second. His task is to cover the two-mile, high banked asphalt oval of Texas International Speedway in the least possible time for the full 60 miles.

The blond, stocky professional race driver is not alone in his battle of time. Yarborough enjoys the service of the famed Wood Brothers from Surf, Va., as his car builders and pit crew. The Woods, headed by Glen Wood himself a former top driver, are recognized as the fastest car servicers on earth.

In a special contest last year they were electrically timed and required only 18.72 seconds to change both right side tires and fill the tank with gas. The Wood Brothers crew has also been unofficially clocked during races and performed the same tasks in as little as 17.0 seconds.

Most experts look for a minimum of seven pit stops during the 93.15-mile race on December 7, an outlook that will add much significance to the ability and speed of the pit crews.

Tickets are available at the Texas International Speedway ticket office Highway 6 South, College Station, Texas, 77840; and at ticket outlets throughout the state.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Making Junior Pay
Six-year-old Jeff, playing coo-ys with his cronies, was an-moved by the arrival of neighbor's four-year-old daughter.

"I'll take care of her," he announced, and gave her a "love" shove. The little girl fell over, broke her arm, and later through her parents filed a damage suit against Jeff. Despite the boy's tender years, the court rendered a sizeable judgment against him.

It may seem strange to saddle a youngster with such an obligation. But it is no longer rare for a child to be collectible. Perhaps he has money of his own. Perhaps his family has a liability insurance policy that includes coverage for him. Or perhaps the claimant will keep the judgment hanging over the child's head for years, until he grows older and begins to earn wages.

In any event, in the eyes of the law, mere youthfulness alone does not ordinarily prevent liability.
Most courts feel that since the law must fall upon someone, and since parents often cannot be held responsible, it is fairer to let the loss fall upon the guilty child than upon his innocent victim.

Nevertheless, youthfulness may indeed be a defense if the circumstances show a lack of willful purpose. For example:

A four-year-old boy "strayed" arms around the legs of a woman visitor, causing her to topple over and suffer injuries. But in a court hearing that followed, the evidence showed that the hug was a gesture of pure affection. Thereupon the court ruled in the child's favor, because even though his act was intentional, it was not meant to do any harm.

Nor is a child likely to be held liable if the bodily contact is not intentional at all, but simply part of the normal, playful exuberance of childhood.

Thus, in another case, a schoolboy was held not liable when he accidentally collided with another pupil while playing tag. The court said:

"We should not wish to make it necessary for children to stand about the schoolyard with their hands for fear they might negligently brush against one of their fellows, and become liable for heavy damages."

Entered as second-class matter at the Post Office in Cameron, Texas, under the Act of Congress of March 1, 1879, Published every Thursday.

The Apparent Sacrifice...

Schools are in the news in our Central Texas area as Rosebud and Lott leaders announce plans to consolidate between the communities and Hearne announces plans for a $595,000 bond proposal for a December 13 vote.

Only two weeks ago, Cameron Independent School District trustees named a committee to evaluate future needs and present physical facilities in the CISD system, looking to general development of the system.

These are results of the growing influence of state and national aspiration for Texas public school excellence. We are both happy and relieved that school systems are facing the future and realities in student behalf.

Not only integration is bringing on the continuing emphasis on new structures for Central Texas school districts, though that would seem to be a main reason.

It is more the amazing explosion of education desire in non-metro areas of the country. The realization is complete that students must compete with graduates of large public schools which have been anticipating employment and higher education needs.

It is not that difficult to modernize a school system. It is difficult to shape the thinking of non-metro areas to see the necessities when major industry, the sciences and computeration of commerce exist more in the cities. But the realities of small towns is more that of the cities. And their Schools must reflect what it is.

It is somewhat expensive in plain dollar and cents to update the physical plant of Cameron or Hearne, for example when the bonded indebtedness of CISD, for second example, is 13 years old. Remainder of the schools were donated, like Yoe High School and grounds, or voluntarily expanded, like Yoe Field, or built with depression financing, like the original tennis courts and Yoe Gym.

CISD buildings Ben Milam School and Cameron Junior High School (formerly O. J. Thomas School) were financed with a bond issue in the mid-50's.

CISD has been fortunate, in one sense to have been able to receive many of these buildings gratis. In another sense, it has been almost tragic. This is simply because the CISD patron and student alike could not fully appreciate the value of schools when much of the physical plant for almost 50 years was a gift.

Rosebud and Hearne are entering a construction phase of development brought on by age and student shift, either within or out of their districts.

Expansion and careful planning, thus far, have precluded a bond program for CISD. But, like Rosebud and Hearne, it is a part of the community future.

Full use of Cameron Junior High School gained about half a dozen classrooms and fuller use of a gym there. But Yoe High School has no auditorium and Yoe campus cafeteria conditions are crowded, not to mention physical education and athletic team facilities.

As Cameron looks to resolving these problems, we can be assured that other Central Texas communities are compelled to give up more to build additional facilities than we will be asked. Rosebud, in effect, will move to a proposed consolidated school site between Lott and Rosebud.

Cameron indeed may be fortunate by comparison. But if students are better served to learn more to work and live in Central Texas, these moves and financing are worth the apparent sacrifice.

In 1913, the first loop - the loop was made by an airplane. The first cross country flight was made in 1911.

The popular Christmas song, "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" first swept the nation in 1949.

Attorney General Rules On Tax Collection Fees

By Vern Sanford

A 1968 constitutional amendment did not affect the amount of fees that should be paid county tax assessor-collectors for assessing and collecting county taxes, but it limits the amount that may be paid by the state. So ruled Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin recently. (State cannot be required to pay more than two per cent of state taxes assessed which are actually collected.)

—In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

—State Department of Public Welfare is authorized to spend money to refurbish the interior of a building which is leased by a county on a long-term basis and furnished the welfare agency rent-free.

—An otherwise recordable affidavit of heirship may be recorded in the office of a county clerk even though the unprobated will is attached. However, the unprobated will not constitute the exhibit to an affidavit may not be recorded with the clerk although it contains acknowledgment.

—Texas Board of Corrections is not obligated to collect, nor must public utilities pay, for placing lines along public roadways traversing state-owned lands under prison system control. (TBC has no authority to reserve the exclusive right to grant utility easements over such public roadways.)

—Harris County Hospital District may legally enter into a lease contract for an X-Ray equipment system for a period of five years, contingent on availability of appropriated funds.

DDT BAN URGED

Travis Audubon Society of Austin called on Governor Smith to use "all resources" to ban the use of insecticide DDT in Texas.

Resolution claimed that DDT is harmful to wildlife, remains toxic in environment for 10 years, is spread by wind and water, and has been "implicated" as a possible cancer cause.

Arizona, California and Michigan, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Denmark have banned DDT already, the Society contended, further noting that "numerous other insecticides can do the job and become harmless to the environment within a few weeks."

COURTS SPEAK

Supreme Court found that truck driver who was shot during an overnight stop was not entitled to workmen's compensation for disabilities.

In other cases the high court ruled that:

—A former liquor store executive is not entitled to recover $1 million in "back salary" from the business.

—Court has no jurisdiction to hear the appeal of a Houston attorney who was disbarred in 1963 for alleged fraudulent and dishonorable conduct.

High Court also heard arguments that refusal to approve a new economy air flight service between Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio would frustrate efforts of Texas Aeronautics Commission to develop an efficient intra-state air carrier system. Air Southwest Company seeks certification for service, but Braniff International, Texas International and Continental airlines have blocked TAC from issuing credentials.

Federal court here took under advisement the government's request to dismiss atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair's suit to outlaw prayers by astronauts in outer space.

Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the death sentence of a man convicted of slaying during service station robbery in West.

ANTIQUITIES

Texas State Antiquities Committee has decided to spend $2,000 of its $25,000 budget to help preserve the artifacts found in the wreck of a Spanish galleon off

Padre Island.

Dr. Fred Wendorf, Southern Methodist University archaeologist who was elected chairman of the committee, proposed the expenditure for chemicals and photographic supplies for emergency work to prevent rushing of iron cannons and other iron artifacts.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, who is a member of the Committee, made it clear that it is now absolutely illegal for anyone to explore for offshore artifacts without a permit from the new committee.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

I never have understood exactly what a computer is, oh I know it can add in five seconds what it'd take me a year to add up on my fingers, but how it works and really what it's for and what else it does is something I haven't gotten around to mastering, which is not bothering me since I don't aim at thinking up any problems that big, when I can't figure out the answer to a problem with a lead pencil I change problems, but a couple of articles in a newspaper I was reading last night got me interested in the thing.

According to one, in 1955 there were 244 computers in this country, today there are 53,500, and five years from now there will be more than 100,000. In fact, the article said, by the end of this century all major industries and enterprises will be controlled by computers.

If you aren't computerized, you won't have a chance, it said, pointing out that even farmers are beginning to use them, computing their expenses and sales and sending the figures to a centrally located computer each month, which in turn digests the facts, flashes its lights and grinds its gears and reports back in two days whether you lost or gained.

While I have never needed a computer to tell me how I'm doing, I've always been able to tell by looking at the last figure in the right hand bottom corner of my bank statement at the end of the month, and sometimes I find out sooner than that, since the bank I deal with is nice enough to send me a special notice right in the middle of the month if the situation demands it, still there must be something to the computer business, although the second article got me to wondering.

According to it, a big computer-manufacturing business doing millions of dollars worth of business a year has just gone busted.

That's right. Auditors went over the books when the firm couldn't pay its bills and discovered the firm was bankrupt.

I'll tell you, if a business making computers, with a computer right under its nose keeping tab on things, can go broke before anybody knows it, I believe I'll stick to the methods I've been using on this Johnson grass farm for years. If you can go broke with or without a computer, I believe it'd be cheaper to do it without. Nobody's going to foreclose on a lead pencil and a piece of scratch paper.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

SPANISH LAND CLAIMS

Mrs. Celia Saiz Montez of Victoria is trying to collect a debt from the United States that she says Mexico has owed her, under a treaty between the two governments, since 1934. Debt goes back to a land grant given her ancestors by the King of Spain. Under a treaty, the United States agreed to pay the claims of Americans living in Mexico and Mexico agreed to pay the claims of Mexicans living in the United States. However, the Mexican government has refused to pay Mrs. Saiz Montez because she is an American citizen and the United States has refused because it argues that her ancestors were Mexicans. She is taking the case to Federal district court.

LABORERS

R. L. Coffman, Texas Employment Commission administrator, reports that the moderate increase in placement of farm workers in October was due to early citrus fruit harvesting in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Increase came amid the seasonal decline in most other activities reported by local offices.

HOG CHOLERA

Both the State and Federal Departments of Agriculture are warning ranchers to be careful of hog cholera during winter. They report that hog cholera struck 19 Texas herds during October. A total of 1,684 animals in 19 infected and 23 exposed herds were disposed of during the month at a cost of $46,300. Departments said that "Every outbreak that is located and eliminated this winter reduces the chance for spread next spring when movements of pigs will increase again."

HD Agent's Notes

DECEMBER PLENTIFUL

December is the festive month. It is the time for family and friends to enjoy a closeness enhanced by a full array of Christmas goods.

It also can be a rather busy month, when budgets often are under stress. That's why the December list of plentiful foods has special interest. Eleven highly measurable items are on this list.

Because each of them is a supply that exceeds normal trade needs, they provide economical shopping attraction. Many stores will be running "specials" on them this month.

Fresh pears and broiler - fryers are the featured December plentiful. You'll find an abundance of pears—mostly Anjou, Bosc and festive, and occasional.

...and your market becomes the richest this year—40 percent higher than a year ago. Think of all the delightful salads, for example, you can make from these pears.

Also think of all the festive chicken dinners made possible by the large volume of low-cost broiler - fryers at your market—one-fourth more than in December, 1948.

Look also for an abundance of nine other items—canned peaches, canned pears, fresh potatoes and sweet potatoes, canned tomatoes and tomato products, apples, dry beans, dry split peas, and lentils. Give them the Christmas touch and you have the basis for delightful holiday eating—quick to prepare, nourishing, fascinatingly pears—mostly Anjou, Bosc and festive, and occasional.

How Do You Feed Astronauts On 28-Month Flight To Mars?

Although a space flight to Mars is at least 17 years away, the problem of feeding astronauts on the 28-month trip already is being tackled.

Food must be produced aboard the spacecraft by physico-chemical techniques and growing plant life, the Chief of Food and Nutrition for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Houston, said recently at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Malcolm Smith, Jr., said that on the Mars mission, potable water and oxygen from human and animal waste products will be required. Heating and carrying food stuffs are two problems.

The Apollo Command Module and the Lunar Module have no equipment for heating or storing frozen foods but scientist and engineers at NASA expect to conquer these problems in the near future.

Microwave energy, like that used in new microwave kitchen ovens, may be used to heat foods despite high power requirements and electromagnetic interference. Smith said weightless conditions in space make conventional oven heating impossible.

The food team is trying to develop a variety of foods that are highly palatable and tops in nutritional quality. Smith said his researchers attempt to determine the food preferences of each astronaut by several interviews with him and his wife.

But, he said, some foods may not be popular if they are repeated frequently on prolonged space flights.

"I think eventually we will have flight food systems like submarines and later on large galleys and dining areas where food can remain its role as a nutrient for the body and the mind," Smith concluded.
